NEW FROM AWARD-WINNING MYSTERY AUTHOR NANCY SPRINGER

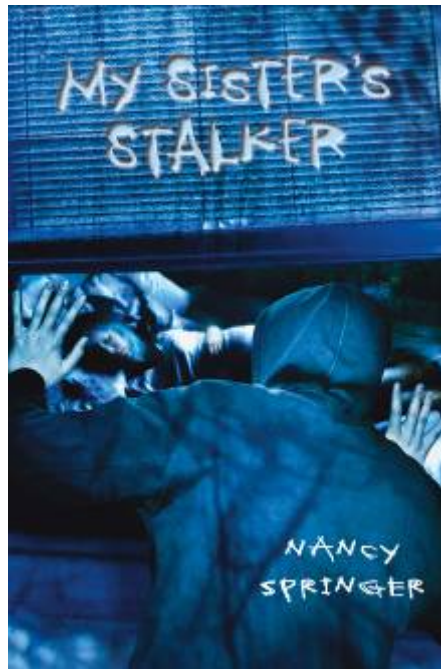

New York, NY—Nancy Springer draws readers into teenage loner Rig’s mission to unmask his popular sister’s mysterious stalker in this gripping suspense tale, which captures the terrifying impact of a disturbing Internet-age phenomenon: MY SISTER’S STALKER (May 1, 2012/ISBN: 978-0-8234-2358-3/$16.95).

Since their parents’ divorce, Rig and his sister, Karma, have drifted apart. Now she’s in college and too busy to return Rig’s calls. When Rig comes across an online shrine to his sister filled with voyeuristic photographs and angry rants, he realizes he has to do something before his sister is attacked—or killed—by this creepy stalker.

With Web stalking becoming increasingly prevalent in today’s ever-advancing technological society, this fast-paced thriller will have readers on the edges of their seats until the very end.

Nancy Springer is a two-time Edgar Award–winning author. Her mysteries include the popular Enola Holmes series. Her thriller Blood Trail was named an International Reading Association (IRA) Young Adults’ Choice, a VOYA Top Shelf Fiction book, and an ALA Quick Pick for Reluctant Young Readers. She lives in Florida.
