Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star

adapted and illustrated in full color by JANE CABRERA

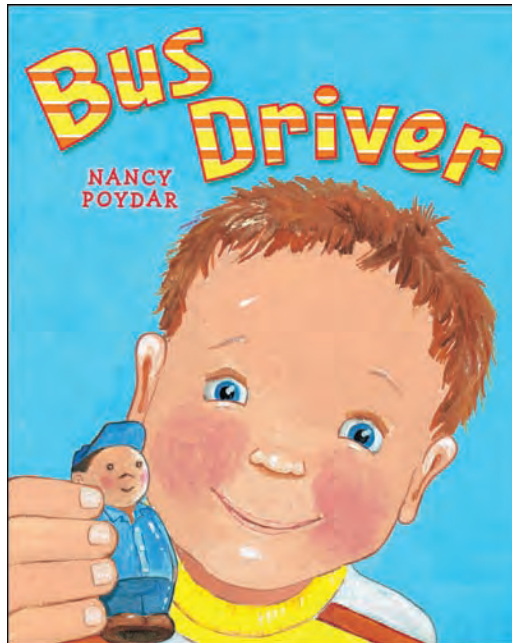

A favorite lullaby becomes a celebration of love in this lushly illustrated version featuring animals from all over the world.

On a beautiful night an owl sings to her owlet, a deer to his fawn, a whale to her calf. Animal parents sing this lullaby to their young, showing the universality of a parent's love for his or her child. Jane Cabrera's brilliant colors illustrate these adorable animals and their homes.

Jane Cabrera is known for her exuberant renditions of classic nursery rhymes. School Library Journal raved that her latest, The Wheels on the Bus, is “not to be missed.”

Bus Driver

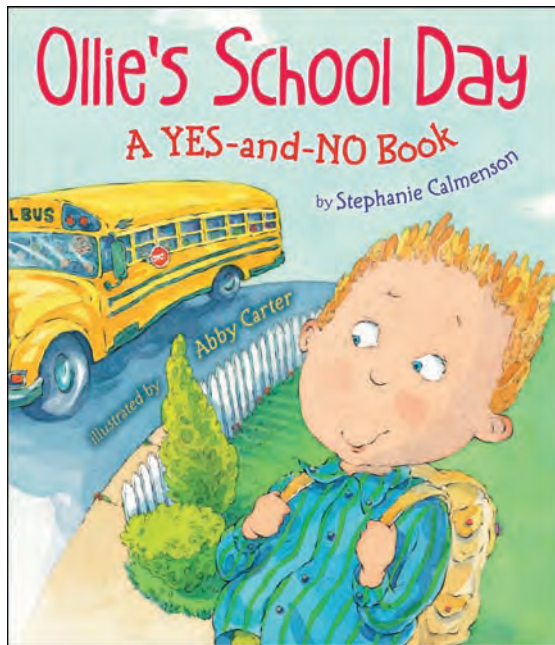

written and illustrated in full color by NANCY POYDAR

Max loves Bus Driver. Finding the small, forgotten toy on the street was a fantastic bit of luck. Now Max does almost everything with Bus Driver: he gives him a bath, shares his lunch with him, and lets him nap in his bed. But poor Bus Driver has a way of getting lost—first at the store, then in the park, and even at the library. It isn't until Max sees his buddy's missing school bus that Bus Driver has a safe place of his own. This charming read-aloud about the joy of having a favorite toy is sure to find its way into preschoolers' hearts.

Nancy Poydar's experiences as an elementary school teacher inspire and inform her reassuring picture books about children. Now a full-time author and artist, she lives with her husband in Wayland, Massachusetts.

Ollie's School Day

A Yes-and-No Book

by STEPHANIE CALMENSEN
illustrated in full color by ABBY CARTER

Children are invited to shout out the answers—some silly, some serious—to yes-and-no questions as they follow Ollie during a day at school.

What will Ollie wear to school? A bathing suit? NO! A space suit? NO! A police officer's uniform? NO! Will Ollie wear pants, a shirt, socks, and shoes? YES!

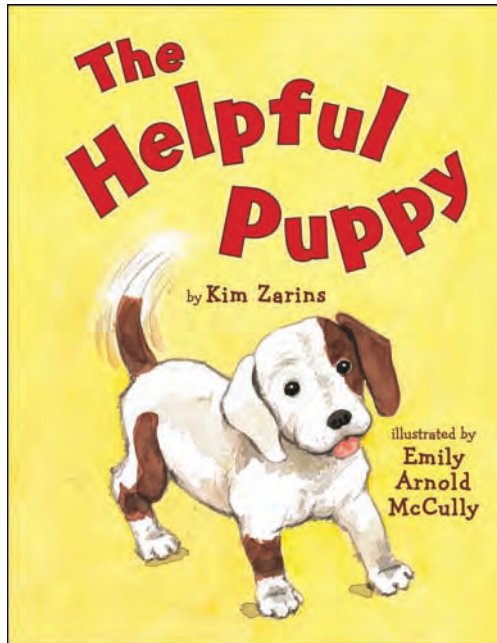

While chock-full of fun, this read-aloud favorite offers many educational opportunities as it engages children in the reading process, exposes them to the sight words yes and no, and teaches social skills and positive classroom behavior.

Stephanie Calmenson, an author of many books and a former kindergarten teacher, lives in New York City.

Abby Carter illustrated Scooter in the Outside by Anne Bowen. She lives in Hadlyme, Connecticut.

The Helpful Puppy

by KIM ZARINS

illustrated in full color by EMILY ARNOLD McCULLY

What can the puppy do to help? He can't crow like the rooster, he's too small to pull like the ox, and he can't give his fur as the sheep give wool.

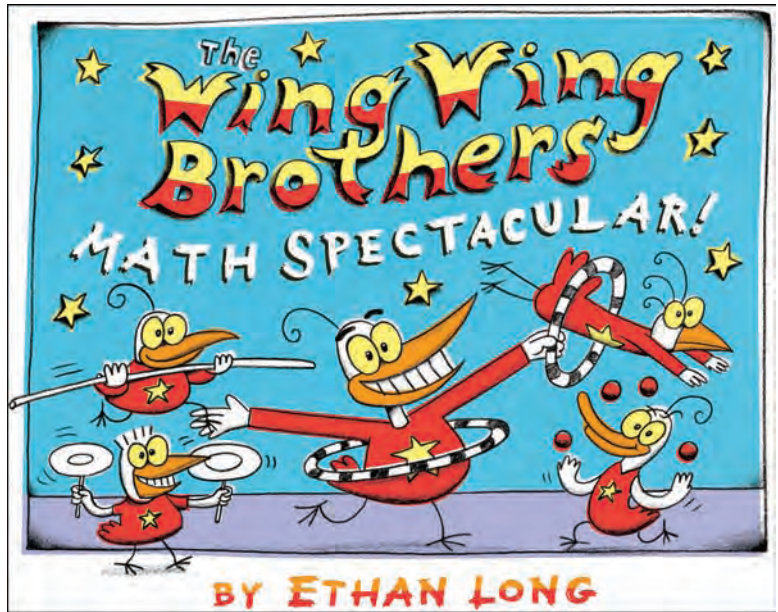

Playful text, with rhymes that punctuate each one of the puppy's encounters, and exuberant illustrations by Emily Arnold McCully follow a puppy as he finds the job that no other animal on the farm can do: give love to his boy.

Kim Zarins teaches medieval and children's literature at UC Sacramento. When she's not teaching or taking care of her son, she is writing. She enjoys reading children's books aloud in goofy voices, as well as listening to audio books in the car.

Emily Arnold McCully won the Caldecott Medal for Mirette on the High Wire. The New York Times called her illustrations for In Like a Lion, Out Like a Lamb "animated" and "delightful." She lives in New York City.

In the wake of a fly's flight, a wig flips, eyeglasses fall, and a lollipop is launched. Musicians BANG and BOOM as they try to get that fly! All fail, and the chaos culminates when an overzealous singer, flyswatter in hand, leaps off the stage. The audience applauds enthusiastically for the greatest display of showmanship they have ever seen.

by JANET STEVENS and SUSAN STEVENS CRUMMEL
illustrated in full color by JANET STEVENS

Ruff! Ruff! Yip! Yip! Dog is rounding up whatever he can find in his urban apartment, even chairs. He is also driving his bird companion crazy with the commotion. Bird sends him to the countryside to find something more appropriate to herd, such as a cow. But since Dog has never seen a cow, he finds all the wrong animals. Maia and her best friend, who happens to be a monster, are both becoming big sisters. This is NOT good news!

When Mom tells Maia their new baby will be her best friend, Maia is skeptical.

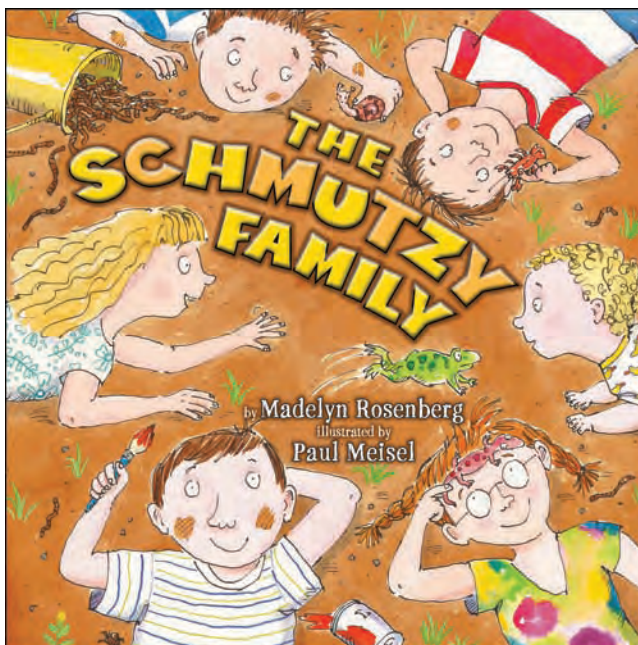

Then Maia's baby and Monster's baby are born. Though they gurgle, growl, scream, and spit, they eventually win their way into their big sisters' hearts. Nonetheless, Maia and the Monster agree: "WE are the friends. THEY are the babies."

The Schmutzy Family

by MADELYN ROSENBERG
illustrated in full color by PAUL MEISEL

In this lively celebration of Jewish traditions, a family must balance giving their children the freedom to make a mess and having a tidy home for Shabbos.

On Sunday the Schmutzys drag in dirt from the malodorous Feldman Swamp. On Monday they make mud pies, and on Tuesday they smear spaghetti sauce. So it goes until Friday morning, when it's time to be not-so-schmutzy. The family members soap, scour, and shower. And on Friday night they are ready to celebrate Shabbos with prayer, song, and supper.

A glossary defines Yiddish words and an author's note explains Shabbos traditions.

Madelyn Rosenberg is a freelance writer living in Arlington, Virginia. This is her first book for children.

Paul Meisel illustrated The Little Red Hen and the Passover Matzah by Leslie Kimmelman and Barneyard Slam by Dian Curtis Regan. He is both author and illustrator of See Me Run, an I Like to Read® book. He lives in Connecticut.

Halloween Forest

by MARION DANE BAUER
illustrated in full color by JOHN SHELLEY

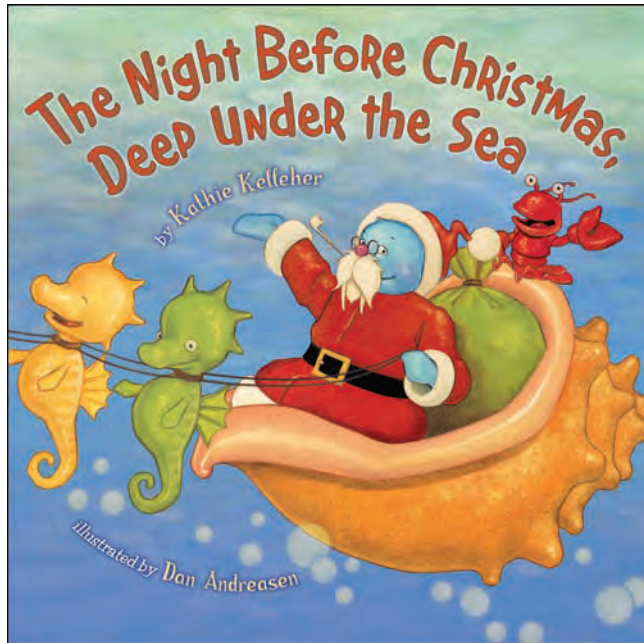

If you take your trick-or-treat sack and venture into the dark woods on Halloween night, you'll find cat bones, rat bones, and bat bones—and all are looking at YOU!

“Take care! Beware! Despair!” the bone creatures cry. “You can bet you’ve just met your worst nightmare!” What will you do? Cry? Sigh? NO! Because you’re too tough / to worry about stuff / like the rattle / and prattle / of bones!

Told in unmetred rhymed verse, this Halloween adventure is a real treat.

Marion Dane Bauer has written a wide range of books for young people, including In Like a Lion, Out Like a Lamb, illustrated by Emily Arnold McCully. She lives in Minnesota.

John Shelley's illustrations are known internationally, especially in Japan, where he lived and worked for twenty-one years. He lives in England.

The Night Before Christmas, Deep Under the Sea

by KATHIE KELLEHER

illustrated in full color by DAN ANDREASEN

On the night before Christmas, deep under the sea, marine life was waiting with expectant glee.

A lobster is just about to doze off in his kelp bed when jolly old Santa Claus appears in a huge conch shell sleigh pulled by eight lively sea horses! With sparkling eyes, curled tusks, and a belly that bounces like a jiggling crown jelly, this reassuring walrus bestows his gifts and soars out of sight with a timeless Christmas message about happiness and love. Clement C. Moore's classic poem, reimagined in a cheerful underwater setting, is a rollicking way to welcome Christmas.

Kathie Kelleher was inspired to write this book while snorkeling during a Mexican vacation with her family shortly before Christmas. She lives in Massachusetts with her husband.

Dan Andreasen began his career as a sculptor, designing Christmas ornaments, figurines, and gift products. Since then he has illustrated twenty-five picture books. He lives in Ohio with his wife and three children.

Snow Day for Mouse

by JUDY COX

illustrated in full color by JEFFREY EBBELER

Snow! Cookies! Candy! Mouse loves snow days. When he's accidentally swept out the door and into the snow, Mouse has a blast ice-skating, sledding, and building snow animals—always just one step ahead of sly Cat. But above Mouse on a wire sit three cold birds who warn Mouse of Cat's approach. Now it is Mouse's turn to do something nice for his new friends.

Judy Cox is the author of One Is a Feast for Mouse, Haunted House, Haunted Mouse, and Cinco de Mouse-O!, about which Kirkus said, "Children, parents, teachers and librarians will want to follow [Mouse] from one celebration to the next." She lives in Oregon.

Jeffrey Ebbeler has been illustrating books and magazines for ten years. His art for One Is a Feast for Mouse was called "colorful" and "dramatic" by Booklist. He lives in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Miss Sally Ann and the Panther

by BOBBI MILLER

illustrated in full color by MEGAN LLOYD

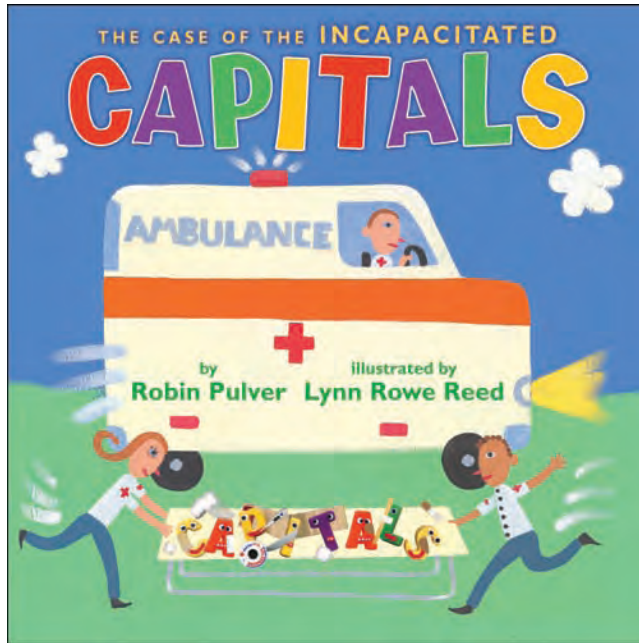

Miss Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind was a woman of wonder. She could rope a hurricane, outspin a steam mill, and blow out the moonlight in a single breath. But her finest adventure was wrestling Fireeyes, a mean-as-tarnation panther whose eyes glared fire. Both fall in love with each other's coats at first sight, and lickity-split begin fighting. They raise such a racket that the moon dips onto its side and the Milky Way curdles. But neither one backs down, backs up, or backs out . . . until, finally, each wins the other's respect, and the two became great and glorious friends.

Bobbi Miller teaches writing to undergraduate and graduate students. In the spirit of Miss Sally Ann, she lives in the Connecticut woods in an 1830s reproduction log cabin.

Megan Lloyd has illustrated more than forty books for children, including Betsy Ross by Becky White. She lives on a farm in central Pennsylvania.

The Boston Tea Party

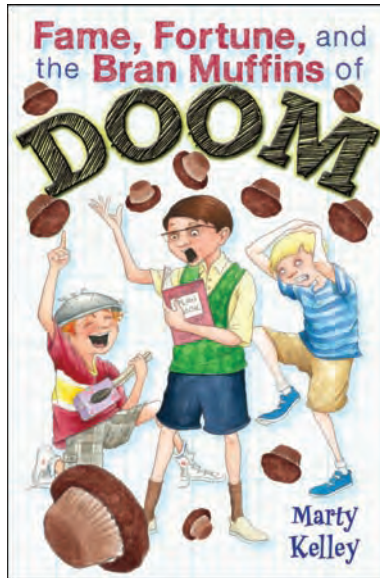

by RUSSELL FREEDMAN
illustrated in full color by PETER MALONE

More than any other event, the Boston Tea Party of 1773 has come to stand for the determination of American colonists to control their own destinies. From the arrival of the ships full of controversial taxed tea in Boston Harbor, through the explosive protest meetings at the Old South Church, to the defiant act of dumping 226 chests of fine tea into the harbor on December 16, Freedman captures this exciting story. Source notes, a bibliography, a time line, an afterword, a historical map, and index.

Russell Freedman's awards and honors include a Newbery Medal, three Newbery Honors, a Sibert Honor, and the Laura Ingalls Wilder Award. In 2007, he received the National Humanities Medal. He lives in New York City.

Peter Malone's fine artist prints are widely collected. His illustrations have appeared in The New Yorker as well as in books for children. He lives in England.

Simon's latest scheme is to gain everlasting fame and glory by winning the school talent show. What stands in his way? A lot. There's the fact that he doesn't sing, dance, or play a musical instrument. There's Stacy and her distracting brown eyes. There's the evil Mike McApline and his cronies. And last, but certainly not least, is the aged Mrs. Anaand, who insists on bombarding Simon and his friends with dangerously hard muffins while they rehearse their act. Utter humiliation is looking a lot more likely than fame and glory for Simon's band, The Groovy Guys.

This hilarious chapter book features illustrations, pages from Simon's secret notebook, and a glossary.

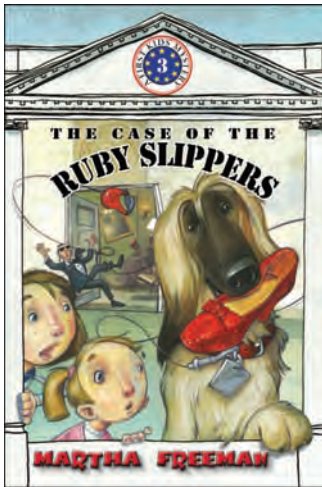

Marty Kelley is the author of seven picture books for young readers. Also a musician, he taught second grade before becoming a full-time author-illustrator. He lives in New Hampshire with his wife, two children, three chickens, and one duck. This is his first novel.

The Case of the Piggy Bank Thief

First Kids Mystery #4

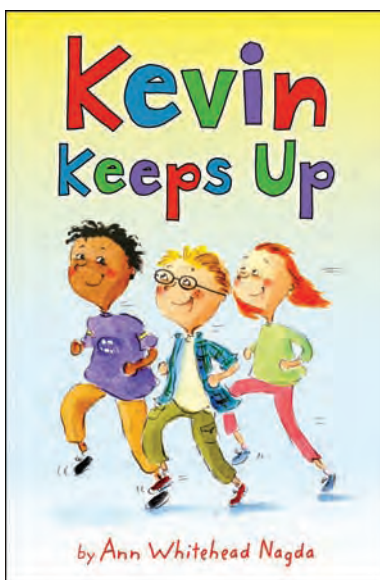

by MARTHA FREEMAN

Although a stolen piggy bank is normally no big deal, this particular bank belongs to seven-year-old Tessa, whose mother is the president of the United States. When her eleven-year-old sister, Cammie, finds out that the piggy also held an old coin their dog, Hooligan, dug up from the White House lawn, the case really gets complicated—and delicate. The coin in question, they realize, is probably the one archaeologists have been trying to uncover and is worth millions! The girls have got to find the culprit and the coin and turn it in or their mother will have a major scandal on her hands.

Martha Freeman writes fiction for children and young adults. Kirkus Reviews praised First Kids Mystery #1, The Case of the Rock 'n' Roll Dog, for its “snappy narrative,” while Booklist admired its “unexpected twists” and “lively story.” She lives in State College, Pennsylvania.

Kevin Keeps Up

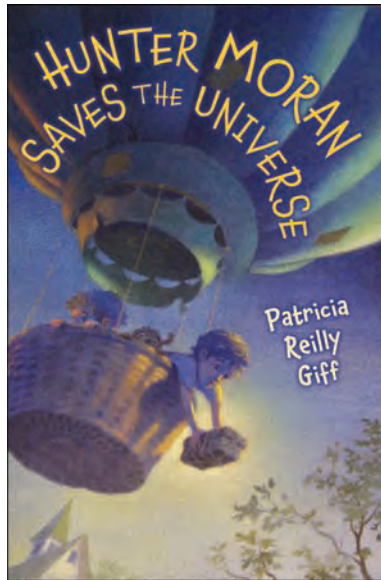

by ANN WHITEHEAD NAGDA

For Kevin, who struggles with ADHD, school is definitely a trial. Staying in his seat, paying attention, and not getting distracted are hard for him. Fortunately, Kevin's teacher, Mrs. Steele, understands him. However, when Mrs. Steele goes on an extended trip to Africa, she is replaced by the worst substitute in the world: Beezer the Buzzard. Kevin knows he'll be stuck inside for every recess and have his desk moved to the front of the class. But with some e-mail assistance from Mrs. Steele and a sympathetic PE teacher on his side, Kevin finds a way to get control of his dismal situation—and even make some impressive and ego-boosting contributions to an important class project. This is a poignant and lively chapter book about a boy with attention challenges.

Ann Whitehead Nagda is the author of nonfiction for children and several chapter books, including Dear Whiskers, a Texas Bluebonnet Award Master List title. She lives in Colorado.

Twins Hunter and Zack have a small problem to solve: they must save their town from a diabolical dentist who is planning to blow it to smithereens. But first they have to hold a funeral for an incriminating report card before it breaks their mother's heart, hide a cello that has been demolished, and keep their father from finding out what they did to his laptop. None of this is going to be easy with their busybody older sister, Linny, watching their every move; older brother, William, just waiting to get them in trouble; five-year-old brother, Steadman, tailing them; and baby Mary banging her spoon like a maniac so no one can think. Before the book is over, a vintage airplane, a hot-air balloon, and a borrowed fire engine will all play parts in the unfolding mystery. This novel is filled with whimsical characters, lots of mischief, and plenty of heart.

Patricia Reilly Giff is the author of Lily's Crossing and Pictures of Hollis Woods, both Newbery Honor Books. She lives in Connecticut.

The Upside of Ordinary

by SUSAN LUBNER

Jermaine Davidson wants to be famous—limo-riding, camera-flashing, crowd-cheering famous. She decides to become the first eleven-year-old producer and star of a reality TV show about her life. Her family quickly tire of her following their every move, filming them night and day. But life around the Davidson house is dull, so Jermaine starts staging events to elicit more drama, excitement, and humor. Her unbridled ambition leads her to alienate her best friend over a disastrous make-over episode, send her arachnophobic mother packing, turn an emotional family crisis into a tacky mystery segment, and ruin her mother's chances to win the annual Pickle Palooza. Filled with remorse, Jermaine turns her talents to making amends and in the process learns the upside of being part of a loving but ordinary family.

Susan Lubner has written three picture books, including Noises at Night, which was named a 2006 Today Show Best Pick for Young Children. This is her first novel. She lives in Southborough, Massachusetts.

Harriet Tubman and the Underground Railroad

by DAVID A. ADLER
illustrated with prints, historical documents, and photographs

Born a slave, Harriet Tubman was determined not to remain one. She escaped from her owners in Maryland on the Underground Railroad in 1849 and then fearlessly returned thirteen times to help guide family members and others to freedom as the most famous conductor of the Underground Railroad. As she proudly claimed, she “never lost a passenger.” Her bravery served her well in the Union army, where she was a cook, a nurse, and then a spy. During and after the war, she helped hundreds of freed slaves begin new lives, and she later founded a home for elderly former slaves and became active in the women’s suffrage movement. She was one of the best known women of her time. A time line, notes, excerpts from primary sources, bibliography, and index are included.

David A. Adler has written numerous books for children, including Frederick Douglass: A Noble Life, which was a School Library Journal Best Book of the Year and a VOYA Nonfiction Honor List title. He lives in the New York City metropolitan area.

Momentum

by SACI LLOYD

In the near future, energy wars are raging across the globe, blackouts are a regular occurrence, and the privileged Citizens and the desperate Outsiders of London live very separate lives. Hunter is a Citizen whose father works for the government; yet he cannot help being fascinated by the Outsiders' ingenuity and, in particular, their mastery of free running. When he meets Uma, an Outsider, he is quickly drawn into her world and finds himself racing against time—and against the government's cruel Kossak soldiers—to protect everything the Outsiders hold dear.

Saci Lloyd is the author of The Carbon Diaries 2015, which was named a Booklist Top Ten First Novel for Youth, a School Library Journal Top 10 Book of the Year, a Horn Book Fanfare Selection, and the grand prize winner of the Green Book Festival. In addition, Kirkus Reviews called The Carbon Diaries 2017 “captivating” in a starred review.

I LIKE TO READ®

Created by distinguished author-illustrators, I Like to Read® picture books are written and illustrated so that even the newest reader can enjoy a satisfying literary experience.

- Texts are written with short, simple sentences; and punctuation is carefully considered.
- Texts feature high-frequency words and words that are easily decodable, including many CVC* and CVCe words.
- Words and word-families are repeated for reading ease and to reinforce learning.
- Vocabulary is familiar.
- Illustrations closely match text, support meaning, and provide characterization and setting.
- Story length, subject, font, and page design all consider the needs of the child who is new to reading.

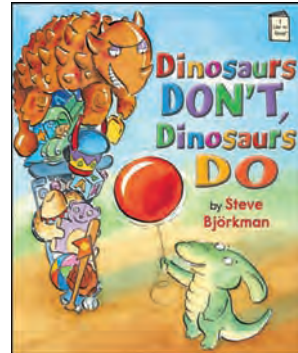

*CVC (consonant-vowel-consonant) words have consonants with familiar letter-sound relationships and short vowel sounds, such as cat, dot, rag.

CVCe (consonant-vowel-consonant-silent e) words have consonants with familiar letter-sound relationships, long vowel sounds, and silent e, such as kite, lake, home.
