

Hold a mock election!

Mock elections are a great way to get kids involved in story time or customers engaged with your election display.

Make copies of the blue and red “yes” and “no” signs and cut out one for each child. Let them know that even though they can’t vote in a public election, they can still practice! When they make choices, they make their voices heard.

Create your own questions or pick from below. Ask kids to raise either their “yes” or “no” sign as an answer for each option. Make a tally and let them know which answer wins!

Which is the best type of pet?

- Cat

- Yes
- No

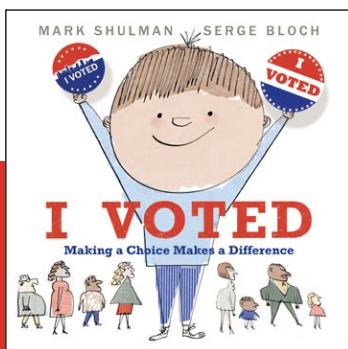

Do you think it would be fun to vote?

- Yes
- No

Mock election for your store

Cut out a “yes” and “no” sign. Tape each sign to a container. Write out a question that would interest your customers or use one of our election-year examples below. Encourage customers to cast their votes using slips of paper. It’s a great way to draw attention to your election-year display and promote participation in our democratic process!

- Are you registered to vote?
- Are you excited about the upcoming 2020 elections?
- If you have children, are you planning on bringing them with you to the polls on Election Day?
- Do you know when the deadline to register to vote is?
- Do you know when your local primary is?
- Do you know where your local polling location is?
