

Pixel+Ink is looking for an IP editor to conceive and develop original, wholly-owned children's book series in a new initiative to create IP-driven properties for the imprint, and cross-platform media initiatives.

The position is based in our New York City office, and will report to the Editor-in-Chief of Pixel+Ink. The IP editor will work on 20+ titles per year, from concept to publication. Experience editing series books and / or IP generation is a must, and background with the following levels, picture books, chapter books, middle grade, and graphic novels is preferred.

Responsibilities include:

- Develop the IP fiction list across seasons, genres, and formats.
- Brainstorm commercial series ideas; write proposals for acquisition.
- Scout authors and illustrators for each property, and negotiate all rights deals.
- Edit the list, prepare cover concepts, write copy and metadata entry, and present titles at sales meetings.
- Work with design, managing ed, and production teams to keep books on schedule

Skills needed:

- Minimum of 5 years children's book publishing experience
- Candidate should be highly motivated, organized, detail oriented, and efficient in order manage multiple titles, under tight deadlines.
- Experience and relationships with writers, illustrators, agents, and art reps, and initiative to form new contacts.
- Excellent writing and communication skills.
- Ability to work in a small, collaborative, and creative team.
- Proficient in editing digitally, and marking art and text passes in Adobe.
- Experience in transmedia would be beneficial, but not required.

Candidates should send a resume and cover letter with the subject line "Pixel+Ink IP Editor" to holiday@holidayhouse.
