Spring 2027 General Publishing Intern / Paid, Part Time
Holiday House Publishing

Holiday House Publishing is currently recruiting general interns for the Spring 2027 season, which will run from January 11th, 2027 to April 2nd, 2027. We are seeking passionate, creative, and hardworking individuals who are hoping to pursue a career in publishing. Responsibilities and learning opportunities will span all departments including editorial, marketing and publicity, rights, and legal, providing the intern with a broad overview of the various roles within publishing.

Qualifications:

- Must be able to travel into the office (located in Manhattan). There will be a mix of remote and in-office work.
- Must be vaccinated.

This is a paid position ($17/hr), and interns will be expected to work up to 21 hours a week: typically 3 days a week, 9-5pm with a one hour unpaid lunch break.

Please note: this position does not offer design or illustration work.

If interested in applying, please submit your resume and cover letter here.

This application will close December 4th, 2026.

Holiday House began in 1935 as the first American publishing house founded with the purpose of publishing only children's books. Our list includes the award-winning I Like to Read® series of picture books for emergent readers and the eponymous imprints of Margaret Ferguson Books and Neal Porter Books.

Holiday House and Pixel+Ink value and are actively seeing candidates with a diversity of talents and perspectives. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, national origin, religion, age, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or protected veteran status.
